

This chapter was translated for <http://nuttyisprocrasinating.wordpress.com> only. And only for those people who don't mind reading unprofessional translation that was being translated FREELY at the translator's, editor's and proofreaders' own free times.

Chapter 76.1

Teasing (Part 2)

The sound of the horses' hooves gradually stopped in front of the broken temple and one could see people dismounting from the horses. Upon seeing that You Xiao had brought elite soldiers this time, Shang Jun's heart became anxious. Little Uncle's martial arts had always been average, but his hypnosis and medicine skills had always been great, so it was impossible for him to have improved his martial arts within these past three years. You Xiao was hard to deal with and it would be dangerous for Qi Feng Hua if it were not because of him (SJ).

Shang Jun's heart was in a mess and he was more nervous than if he had to face an enemy's attack. Qi Feng Hua on the other hand, was leisurely picking up rice straws in order to cover up the blood on the ground and completely ignored You Xiao's aggressive delegation that had rushed inside the broken temple.

You Xiao had already seen the white horse outside from a long time ago, so he had already guessed there was someone inside. After coming inside, he saw a white clothed man that was about to sleep on a bed made from rice straw. His face was relaxed and since he could turn a blind eye to this group of soldiers, he must not be an average man. You Xiao secretly sized him up and down; he did not plan to provoke him, as he only wanted to find that man who had escaped... Shang Jun!

You Xiao whispered to the soldiers behind him, "Search!"

The soldiers understood and nodded their heads avoiding the man as they searched all around.

Shang Jun was slightly worried as he could not move and could only control his breathing. Luckily, Qi Feng Hua had put him in a place that did not look like a hidden place, which was in between the tattered clothes!

While Qi Feng Hua was shaking the rice straws, he smiled and said, "Is the General looking for someone? Why don't I help you with your fortune? If it is not accurate, it is free."

The low and light voice caused You Xiao to lightly furrow his eyebrows. He had hated this ancient method his whole life! He no longer looked towards the man as You Xiao slowly approached the Buddhist statue in the middle. It was broken and dirty; was this the god whom everyone was praying to? If no one was giving it any gold decoration on its body or building the shrine, then was it not just a piece of mud?! It was ridiculous that it could completely turn into a god of suffering and rescuing. He only believed in himself, when you were powerful, you were a god!

You Xiao's burning eyes were panicky and Shang Jun was nervous for good reason, because he was sitting inside the clothes next to the Buddhist statue directly facing You Xiao's sharp, haughty, and unruly eyes. Shang Jun did not dare to move or blink his eyes at all!

Qi Feng Hua was afraid that You Xiao would find Shang Jun so he came up behind him and clearly said again, "I am afraid that the General will return empty handed this time."

"General, we did not find anyone." As if to confirm Qi Feng Hua's words, the soldier's timely report came through.

"Let's go." You Xiao was not willing to waste any more time, so he immediately passed by Qi Feng Hua and went towards the outside door.

Qi Feng Hua secretly sighed; this person was a very determined person and he had hurt Xiao Jun. Originally, he was not happy with You Xiao, but now this person seemed to have a little ability and was somewhat interesting! Faced with You Xiao's back, Qi Feng Hua pretended to feel sorry as he said, "I will give you one prediction, then you can leave! I still want to tell you which direction that person who you are looking for, went to!"

You Xiao stopped his steps, slowly tightened both of his fists and said with a cold voice that showed his annoyance, "Who the heck are you?! Do not pretend to be someone you are not in front of me!" If he wanted to die, then You Xiao did not mind sending him off!

Qi Feng Hua was half leaning against the stone pillar with what seemed to be a smile as he said, "The General's words are wrong, I am not pretending to be anybody. There is always a constant variable in every opportunity in the secular world. Forget it, if you do not know about this then the person who you are looking for is your life's nemesis!" Even though he did not know what kind of entanglements were between him and Xiao Jun, he knew since the beginning that he was not Xiao Jun's opponent! This was called defending someone despite knowing that the person was wrong!

The word 'nemesis' caused You Xiao to go into a trance; thinking over the several fights they had in these past three years, Shang Jun really was his nemesis! Every time he faced Shang Jun he always seemed to be at a disadvantage. As he turned around, You Xiao looked at Qi Feng Hua for the first time and asked with a cold voice, "Where is he?"

The fish took the bait! Qi Feng Hua secretly smiled; it seemed that he really did have to find Xiao Jun. As he sat down on the pile of straws, Qi Feng Hua smiled and said, "General, do not be in a hurry, as this one has to make a careful prediction."

You Xiao reckoned for a while before he finally walked in front of Qi Feng Hua as he stared at him with his pair of sharp eyes. It was as if those eyes wanted to see through his scheme. "Sit down ah." Qi Feng Hua was looking at him face to face with a relaxed appearance and was not affected by You Xiao's imposing manner at all.

You Xiao straightforwardly sat down in front of him and said with a low voice, "Alright, you can start!" He did not believe in fortune telling at all, nor did he believe that this person really knew which direction Shang Jun went in. If he wanted to play, then he would accompany him to play!

Qi Feng Hua shook his head, extended his hand and asked, "Do you have any stuff of his with you or an item that he has touched? If you do not give me anything that he has touched, how can I do anything?"

You Xiao furrowed his eyebrows; when had he heard that fortune telling would need an item? You Xiao was even more certain that he did not know anything about fortune telling techniques.

He initially wanted to say that he did not have anything, but upon thinking it over again, he really wanted to see what kind of tricks he still had, so You Xiao took out a black cloth from inside his chest and threw it in Qi Feng Hua's hand.

Qi Feng Hua was slightly startled as he did not expect that this man really had any of Xiao Jun's stuff. He pulled his hand back as he gently kneaded the cloth. This cloth was the same as Shang Jun's night clothes and since there was some blood on it, this item really seemed to be Xiao Jun's. Qi Feng Hua slightly raised his eyebrow because it was rather strange; it was reasonable to say that these two people were enemies, but who would carry the enemy's cloth that had blood on it? He even carried it in his chest, so what kind of feeling did he have towards Xiao Jun?!