

This chapter was translated for <http://nuttyisprocrasinating.wordpress.com> only. And only for those people who don't mind reading unprofessional translation that was being translated FREELY at the translator's, editor's and proofreaders' own free times.

Chapter 76.2

Teasing (Part 2)

Feeling uncomfortable under Qi Feng Hua's exploring eyes, You Xiao shouted out, "Hurry up if you want to give me a divination! Less dilly dallying!"

Being ashamed into anger? Very interesting! Covering up the radiance in his eyes, Qi Feng Hua properly folded the cloth and clamped it in both of his hands; while his mouth mumbled some words, he threw it in the air and soon afterwards the cloth spread out onto the ground. While Qi Feng Hua was staring at the cloth with a careful appearance, next to the Buddhist statue Shang Jun was rolling his eyes. What kind of a play was Little Uncle performing ah?! When did Master's divination look like this?! Wasn't he insulting You Xiao's intelligence?! Could You Xiao not tell that this was a farce?!

Shang Jun looked towards You Xiao and only saw that both of his hands were wrapped around his chest as his cold eyes watched Qi Feng Hua's performance. His whitened knuckles revealed that he was trying very hard to patiently bear with this. Shang Jun did not understand; if he did not believe this divination, then why would he want to deal with Little Uncle?!

Just when You Xiao almost could not endure it any longer, Qi Feng Hua lifted his head and said with a serious face, "Based on the divination, the person who you are looking for has excellent marital arts, but he suffered a serious injury."

Nonsense! The towel was completely covered by blood and it would be strange if he did not suffer any injury! You Xiao did not show any changes to his face as he asked, "Then is he dead or alive?"

"Half dead but alive." He did not say a lie, Xiao Jun was really like this now, so this person should be even more wretched!

Hearing something as useless as this, You Xiao did not have the patience anymore, so he glared at Qi Feng Hua and angrily said, "Where the heck is he?!" He was insane, chasing after Shang Jun in the middle of the night because of him being poisoned. If he did not care about him, he would not live for more than three days, then what the heck was he doing now being so anxious?! The more he thought about this, the gloomier You Xiao's face became.

As You Xiao's anger gradually increased, Shang Jun's heart became restless again. However, contrary to Shang Jun's anxiousness, Qi Feng Hua was actually happy. He had never been afraid to make people angry; the more vulnerable and emotional a person was, the easier they were to control! Qi Feng Hua ignored You Xiao's killing aura and continued to say very seriously, "The divination will not be too clear using only this item. The one who had the most contact is still the General, so using you will be more accurate."

Using him for the divination?! Was this his main purpose that he had wanted?! You Xiao narrowed his eyes and asked with a low voice, "How do you do this divination?"

Upon hearing that the fortune teller would use You Xiao in the divination, the accompanying soldiers immediately said in unison, "General, please think three times about this! The General is the commander for the three armies, so you cannot be harmed ah!"

Qi Feng Hua laughed out loud and answered, "Everybody please be at ease, it will not be harmful to the General. The General will certainly keep his image. You only need to see into my eyes, so that I will be able to see his appearance and will be able to figure out where that person is even more!"

Just looking into his eyes?! The soldiers looked at each other; how could there was such a thing?!

Qi Feng Hua took a glance at You Xiao's eyes and immediately cried out, "What an attractive and intelligent person ah, as it turns out, the person whom the General is looking for is as beautiful as an immortal."

Shang Jun did not know whether to laugh or cry; he still could exaggerate this much!!

You Xiao gently raised his lips and smilingly said, "Can you really see him?!"

"Of course!"

Very good! If this person could recognize Shang Jun then he should be able to find out where Shang Jun was, so if he followed him (QFH), he should be able to find that wretched man!

Qi Feng Hua pointed at his own eyes and then smiled and said, "I will begin the divination. Your eyes should look at my eyes; remember not to move and relax yourself."

You Xiao hesitated for a little bit before he looked up at Qi Feng Hua. Based on his achievement a moment ago, this young kid had grown up just recently and must not have any ability either, so he wanted to see what other tricks he had.

The two people's eyes interlocked and at first You Xiao only felt that this man's eyes were very beautiful, clearly reflecting his appearance. Then, when a strange purple light flashed from the man's eyes, his head began to feel slightly dizzy. He became startled and wanted to move his gaze away but found that he could not move at all. His eyes could only stare at that man's strange eyes as he seemed to be sucked into a huge vortex as his consciousness gradually began to fade...

After an incense stick time, "What is your name?" Qi Feng Hua quietly asked.

"You Xiao."

Shang Jun furrowed his eyebrows; why did You Xiao's voice become gentle like this? It was as if he was whispering and it was not like him at all.

Qi Feng Hua was very satisfied as he continued to slowly say, "Whatever I want to ask you now you will answer, do you understand?"

"Understood."

This gentle voice again; it was fishy, so Shang Jun carefully watched You Xiao and found that he was still sitting up straight. His eyes were open, bright, and full of expression, but his appearance was exceptionally dull as he unblinkingly stared at Little Uncle's eyes! Suddenly, he had a thought that flashed through his mind; could it be that Little Uncle really practiced the soul retrieval technique?! No wonder he was so confident just now!

Testing to see whether You Xiao was still obedient or not, Qi Feng Hua asked an insignificant question, "Where are you from?"

"Cang Yue's Bing City."

Not bad! Qi Feng Hua was a little curious about the relationship between You Xiao and Xiao Jun. If he asked Xiao Jun, he would definitely not be willing to explain, so then he would just ask You Xiao and this would be good, "What is your relationship with the person who you are looking for?"

Without the smoothness like the previous few answers, You Xiao paused for a while before softly replying, "Old enemy."

Really only an old enemy? Qi Feng Hua suddenly smiled mischievously and asked, "Do you like him or not?"

Shang Jun opened his eyes wide!! His breath was blocked in his throat, so that he could neither breathe nor vomit!

Qi Feng Hua! Are you insane ah?! How could you ask this kind of question?! He was a man now, a man!!

Qi Feng Hua could feel the chaotic and murderous aura coming from that stack of piled up clothes, so he really wanted to know even more now, just what would be You Xiao's answer...

Sian's notes:

Just to make it clear, Xiao in You Xiao's name isn't the same as Xiao in Xiao Jun's nick name that QFH used for Shang Jun. Xiao in You Xiao's name means heaven/firmament while the Xiao in Xiao Jun means young, small, little; which is the same word as Xiao in the Little (Uncle).

Lol... QFH is hilarious!!! I love him, trying to get this answer directly from YX. 🤔🤔🤔

In the past chapters, I might use Small Uncle for SJ's appellation for QFH. I think using Little Uncle is better so I'm going to change it going forward. I will try to change the appellation in the previous chapters before I post if, but if I forget or miss it, you know Small Uncle or Little Uncle is the same appellation for QFH.